

Acquisition through Association

November 13, 2009

nGAP NEWS RELEASE

nGAP/GovEx is now a Supplier of Products for the Google Marketplace nGAP is pleased to announce the availability of GovEx products using Google Products Search.

To view this functionality, go to <http://www.google.com/products> and type "nGAP Incorporated". You will find 83,429 GovEx products listed. What's more, Google will let you search these GovEx products by category and price parameters, making products easy to find. Or, just enter the product description or product number to find a specific product. Google will list all vendors with products that fit that description. If you click on the nGAP listing you are taken to the GovEx page for that product and can continue processing your purchase.

This feature is in Google Beta testing, although it is fully working now. nGAP is looking at implementing the Google Shopping List and Checkout features, as well as adding more of our product catalog once the Beta is completed.

Having GovEx products available through Google Search is one more way that nGAP is bringing our products to the global market. Google Products Search is a simple and economical way to get the nGAP brand out to the world at large.

